With the constant flow of stress and toxins in our lives, here is to keeping inflammatory processes in balance:

Immune Shield CBD Capsules by HempMindandBody.com

Vitamin D, zinc, CBD and other vital nutrients are critical for staying healthy and keeping inflammatory processes in balance.

Understanding the power and importance of our God-given immune system has never been more dire than it is right now. Each bodily process and physiological system works symbiotically to protect the human organism from dangerous pathogens like bacteria and viruses.

I take one product as my “go-to” immune product where I can get the necessary immune building blocks for fierce protection. I no longer dig through a handfuls of vitamins and supplements for my daily essentials.

Just two capsules daily and forget about it!

Immune Shield CBD Capsules by HempMindandBody.com

CBD provides the synergy amongst the six other ingredients that boost immunity, but also properly regulates inflammatory processes in the body. Beta-Caryophyllene is a terpene and a cannabinoid found in the hemp plant that modulates CB2 receptors in the immune system. A key function of the cannabinoid receptors is the regulation of cytokine release. These powerful ingredients act as a dimmer switch to support physiological balance and homeostatic function within the body reducing the possibility of a cytokine storm.
